

Making a legacy gift Including iDE in your will or estate

Whether you designate a specific amount or leave a percentage of your estate, you will become a part of iDE's "100 Farmers" Society and your legacy gift will support iDE's continued work in helping families move from poverty to prosperity.

Ways to Include iDE in Your Will or Estate:

- Bequests: any gift — including personal property, stocks, bonds, jewelry, cash and real estate — given to an individual or organization through an estate plan, or will. Bequests can be executed as part of the original trust/will, or through an amendment.
 - Codicil: amends, rather than replaces, a previously executed will.
 - Trust Amendment: used to change specific provisions of a revocable living trust.
 - Specific Bequest: a gift of a specific asset such as real estate, a car, other property or a gift for a specific dollar amount.
 - Percentage Bequest: a gift of a specific percentage of an overall estate.
 - Residual Bequest: a gift made from the balance of an estate after the will or trust has given away all specific bequests.

Please consult your advisor for more detailed information as you prepare to make your gift. Below is the information your advisor may need and sample language:

Sample language for a specific or percentage bequest:

"I give, bequeath, and devise [dollar amount/description of asset or X percentage] of my estate to International Development Enterprises (iDE), a qualified 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, located at 1031 33rd Street, Suite 270, Denver, CO 80209, to be used for its general purposes."

Samples language for a residuary bequest:

"I give, bequeath, and devise [all or X percentage] of the rest, residue, and remainder of property, both real and personal, wherever situated, which I may own or be entitled to at my death, to International Development Enterprises (iDE), a qualified 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, located at 1031 33rd Street, Suite 270, Denver, CO 80209, to be used for its general purposes."

If you have already included us in your will or state plan, please let us know. We would like to recognize you and your family for your gift. Please fill out this Letter of Intent and email to Emily Karol at ekarol@ideglobal.org or mail it to us at the address below.
